Library News

"A great library contains the diary of the human race— the great consulting room of a wise man in a library" — by George Dawson—

Shakespeare, whose 400th anniversary is being celebrated, this spring said: "My library was dukedom large enough."

— April has been a busy month for the Appomattox County Library. The total circulation has been that of 2081 which included 45 films, 22 music records and 19 periodicals.

The Ford Times Traveling Art exhibit of 28 pictures of "BIRDS and Beasts" have been enjoyed by the public and the schools. Reservations for two Ford Exhibits have been made for next year on Virginia and the Southland.

At the present time, the library is fortunate in having an exhibit of eight oil paintings which were done by Frank Hatcher. Among the eight there is a beautiful one of the Appomattox River Bridge. The others are scenes of the Western part of the United States which the artist observed on a recent trip.

"The Spy Who Came in From the Cold" by John Le Carre has been at the top of the best seller list for weeks and weeks. Conversions by Knebel and Bailey is a close runner up.

Horticulture, a new magazine, has been added to the list of monthly periodicals which come to the library. Thanks to the Appomattox Garden Club for this subscription. It is published by the Massachusetts Horticultural Society for $3.00 per year. All of your flower and lawn problems may be answered in his magazine— it is beautifully illustrated — in this May issue you will find such articles as "What to do in May" — The Best Dogwoods —the other ars — etc— Magazines like books, may be checked out for circulation.

Come lets READ —"Stretch your mind — widen your world" — Your Appomattox County Library is soon approaching 25 years of reading services to the people of Appomattox.

W. H. Almond Reminisces On Earlier Days At Old Village

W. H. Almond, retired Park Service employee, returned to the Appomattox National Historical Park Monday afternoon for a look around, and some reminiscing about the years he first visited the old village.

Mr. Almond, retired since the first of the year, was maintenance man, then foreman of maintenance for a total of almost twelve years at the park. A number of years before that, however, in 1921-22 he frequently visited the Charley Mitchells at the Old Clover Hill Tavern and the Browning family which resided at what is now called Meek's Store. Mr. and Mrs. Almond ate their first meal together, following their marriage, at the Old Tavern.

While employed by the Park Service, Almond worked first on the Peers House, and in 1957, and while helping with the excavation of the site of the old kitchen once attached to Clover Hill Tavern, he found an 1833 half-dime which is now a part of the Museum display. He dug up other relics, too, while helping with construction and maintenance at the Park.

Mr. Almond says he can find plenty of carpentry and odd jobs to do around the Almond home on North Church Street, but he does take time to do a little fishing. The Almonds have three children, all grown, plus eight grandchildren. Their oldest son, D. Henry Almond, is a member of the Va. House of Delegates from Roanoke, and a Telephone Co. engineer. A daughter, Mrs. Kathryn Cyrus, lives at Roanoke. Their youngest, Irvin, is the manager of a Motor Transfer Company in Raleigh, N. C.

Firemen Battle Two Fires Sunday P. M.

Two fires Sunday afternoon c'aimed the attention of county firefighters. The first one, near Reedy Spring Church, Spout Spring, was reported about 1:30 p.m. The blaze burned over six or seven acres of timber and brush, according to Forest Warden David M. Smith.

Local fire wardens, Assistant Fire Warden Berkley Garrett, and Fire Chief Ned Hancock aid other Appomattox volunteer firemen assisted in fighting the blaze.

Later in the afternoon Warden Smith dispatched firefighters to the scene of a fire in the Concord area which burned over an estimated 100 acres near Route 648. Bulldozers were brought in, and water tanks from both the Concord Volunteer company and Appomattox were used. Numerous volunteers came to the aid of the firefighters.

David Smith praised Appomattox citizens for their 'good response' to the emergency. Both fires, he said, may have resulted from smaller brush fires which went out of control in Sunday afternoon's high wind. Smith says that woodlands in this area are "amazingly dry." Leonard Garrett, operator of the Piney Mountain Lookout Tower, said he will be on duty daily at the Tower until there is a heavy rainfall.

DAR Will Meet Monday At 3:30

The Appomattox Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, will meet Monday, May 18 at 3:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Jerry A. Burke. Mrs. Burke and Mrs. Walter W. Scott will be co-hostess.

Mr. Bruce Chandler, Director of Instruction, will be the guest speaker.

Abbitt, along with Prince Edward County Judge William P. Hay Jr. are reported under consideration by Gov. Albertis S. Harrison Jr. However, no other person than Abbitt was mentioned by the Lynchburg association.

A copy of the endorsement resolution will be sent to Harrison. The other resolution will be made a part of permanent records of the Fifth Judicial Circuit, over which Judge Flood presided, and a copy will be sent to Mrs. Flood.

Judge Flood died April 27, in a Richmond Hospital after an illness of several months.

The State Supreme Court must certify to Harrison that there is a necessity to fill the vacany before any appointment can be made.

ASCS Urges Farmers' Sign-Up Wheat Program By Frdiay, 15th

Signup under the 1964 wheat program in Appomattox County is moving ahead nicely, the ASCS office reports.

But J. A. Martin, ASCS Committee Chairman, says that there are still a number of farmers with 1964 wheat allotments who have not been heard from. He strongly urges these farmers to come to the ASCS office at once for an explanation of the new wheat program.

"I am certain that the program has some attractive features for many of the wheat farmers not yet signed," Mr. Martin says. "I would hate very much for any Appomattox County wheat grower to pass up the 1964 wheat program without giving us a chance to explain what it offers."

The Chairman emphasized the point that participation is voluntary, but a farmer must first sign to take advantage of the program benefits — it's not automatic.

Friday, May 15 is the deadline for signing up, Mr. Martin says, and there will be no extension of that date.
